Karen E Pernet LSCW RPT/S

is a Licensed Clinical Social Worker with a masters degree from Bryn Mawr College and a Registered Play Therapist/Supervisor. She is known for her encouraging and down to earth approach. She has been described as knowledgeable, supportive and playful.

Karen's training as a play therapist includes a three year internship in Child Centered Play Therapy, an intensive training in Gestalt Therapy with children, Sandtray-Worldplay training and ongoing training and consultation in Filial Therapy.

She uses Filial Therapy in her practice with a wide variety of families: for example, those with relatively minor adjustment problems to families struggling with divorce & separation to families who are adopting as well as many other issues. She also trained in several body/mind modalities and is a Somatic Experiencing Practitioner. In addition she has had another 15 years experience as a social worker and supervisor in the field of child welfare and child sexual abuse.

"I consider myself extremely fortunate to work in the field I love. It is important for me to have the opportunity to combine my life experience and my professional knowledge. My areas of specialty also include problems of childhood, women's issues, single parenting, and ethnic/racial/foster and adoption identity issues."

Quote from a participant: BD LCSW

"I am actually still floating in the clouds since the training-I still can't get over the unbelievable skills that I have acquired...the people that I have been privileged to work with for the four days. (As) you said I feel that I have gained a lot for myself, both within the Filial work & beyond."

Intensive Filial Therapy

About the Workshop

Filial Therapy is a highly effective intervention integrating family therapy and play therapy to address child and family problems. Therapists learn how to train and supervise parents as they conduct special child-centered play sessions with their own children (ages 3-12), an approach designed to resolve presenting problems while strengthening the family. Filial Therapy has been used successfully with many child and family problems: oppositional behaviors, anxiety, depression, abuse/neglect, single parenting, traumatic events, attachment/adoption/ foster care, relationship problems, divorce, family substance abuse, family reunification, chronic illness, and others. A research history spanning more than 40 years has consistently shown Filial Therapy to be cost-effective in facilitating positive and long-lasting child and family change. The use of this relatively short-term evidence-based approach has increased dramatically worldwide in recent years due to its effective, empowering approach to strengthening families.

Filial Therapy has been used in many different settings. Furthermore, it has been embraced by many throughout the world because of its respectful involvement of parents as partners in the process of family change.

Prerequisite Training

Participants should have prior training and supervised experience in Child-Centered Play Therapy (CCPT) and a live introductory workshop or distance learning course in FT, such as the book Filial Therapy & the DVD workshop Intro to FT (see Risé Van Fleet's website www.play-therapy.com). Please attach a brief description of how you meet the prerequisites with the registration. If you have questions about your own background, please call me.

Training Methods

The Intensive Filial Therapy Training Program is limited to 6 participants to permit extensive skill practice with individualized coaching and feedback. The leader presents brief lectures, live and videotaped demonstrations, case studies, and supervision/feedback to participants as they practice during role plays.

Participants

This training is for psychologists, social workers, counselors, psychiatrists, family therapists, school counselors, & other experienced professionals who work with children and families.
